In memoriam Allie N. Ariail, entered into rest June 14, 1963. Lo, I am with you always.

Just sleeping,

Now the laborer's task is over

Now the battle day is past;

Now upon the farther shore

Lands the voyager at last.

There the tears of earth are dried;

There its hidden things are clear;

There the work of life is tried

By a greater judge than here.

"Earth to earth and dust to dust."

Calmly now the words we say;

Left behind, we wait in trust

For the resurrection day.

Father, in Thy gracious keeping

Leave we now Thy servant sleeping.

"God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain" Rev. 21:4.

The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; he leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for thou art with me; thy rod and they staff they comfort me. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies. Thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over. Dr. Clyde C. Ariail died near midnight on May 18 bringing sadness and sorrow to a great host of those to whom he had ministered in his long life of practice in the city of Greenville. Nearly 25 years ago this writer came to Greenville for his first pastorate in this city. Only a short time later Dr. Ariail was called to the home of the new minister of Hampton Avenue Methodist church. A fine friendship began with that first visit, a friendship that has lasted through the years. Dr. Ariail was not only our family doctor but our family friend. His was a busy and useful life. His skilled touch helped many back to health. His kindness has lifted many a spirit. He was a man of conviction, loyal to his home, his church and his friends and family. He loved the practice of the profession of medicine and gave himself unstintedly to his work. This writer has parted, for a time, with a friend and shares with his family in their sorrow at his going. His funeral service was held at the Mackey Mortuary of Greenville by his pastor, Rev. J. Owen Smith, and the writer. The large room was filled with his friends and neighbors and a great bank of flowers attested to the love in which he was held. After appropriate services his body was laid to rest in Springwood cemetery of the city of Greenville. He shall not be soon forgotten. H. O. Chambers.

DOCTOR ARIAIL-- Greenville and this entire section of the state mourn the loss of an outstanding and valuable citizen in the death of Dr. C. C. Ariail, a practicing physician for 27 years in this community.

Dr. Ariail was not only a leader in his profession but also rendered the community great service through his active interest and work in civic affairs. He was a man who sought in an unselfish way to serve the welfare of his fellow man and that of the community as a whole; and his life and works were a contribution of inestimable value to the advancement of the civic and cultural interests of Greenville and the state.

A man of high ideals and constructive life purposes, his passing brings deep grief to a great host of friends and associates throughout this section; and Greenville feels a great debt for his useful life of service.--The Greenville News.

DEATH OF MRS. C. C. ARIAIL

Mrs. Dorothy Giles Ariail, wife of Dr. C. C. Ariail, of Greenville, died at a hospital in that city at 7:30 Sunday morning, January 20, after an illness of several weeks. The going of this lovely and loveable young wife and mother leaves a devoted husband sorely stricken with two motherless children, a young son, C. C. Ariail, Jr., and a little daughter, Carolyn Ariail, besides her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Giles of Graniteville, and two brothers, T. C. Giles of Warrenton and W. A. Giles, 3rd, of Bath. Besides these, scarcely if any less stricken, are the father of Dr. Ariail, Rev. J. W. Ariail, of the South Carolina Conference and brothers and sisters, among whom are Dr. J. M. Ariail, of Columbia College, and Rev. Warren G. Ariail, of the South Carolina Conference, to all of whom Mrs. Ariail had endeared herself as true daughter and sister.

Mrs. Ariail was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Giles, of Graniteville, S. C., where she was born and reared. She came to Greenville when her husband, Dr. C. C. Ariail, located there in 1919 for the practice of his profession. As her gifted young husband through his skill as a physician won his way in the city, the wife with him won hers into the hearts of the people, as beautifully shown in tributes paid her. She was a member of the Buncombe Street Methodist church and was an active worker there especially in the Edna David Missionary Society. She was active also in civic service and interested in the Crescent Community club. Her devotion to her church was marked and church circles pay tribute to the lovely Christian character. She was one of the most beautiful of Christian characters, deep rooted in her convictions and consecration to her Lord, serving Him humbly and consistently but without display. Looking dimly through tears we may not understand, but bravely follow on.

TRIBUTE TO A TEACHER

Each generation of educators produces its own master teachers, but seldom does one teacher extend his mastery over as many generations as did Dr. James Milton Ariail.

Before death claimed him last Friday at the age of 92, the Professor Emeritus of English at Columbia College could look back on an illustrious teaching career, which had its inception when he was graduated from Wofford College in 1905. In the 71 years since then, he added degrees to his name, laurels to his fame, and -- most notably of all -- thousands of students to the roster of those whose love of English literature stemmed from exposure to his instruction.

If we accept the testimony of this legion, and of his professorial colleagues, he enriched countless lives by introducing them to the superb writings of Shakespeare, Milton, Browning, Keats and other luminaries of literature. But his students' memories of those great men were matched by their memories of him -- not only as a teacher, but as a devout Christian whose faith sustained him through personal tragedies which might have crushed a lesser mortal.

Scholar, teacher, and writer himself -- James Milton Ariail left a legacy of academic achievement and tutorial influence, which imbeds his name permanently in the history of South Carolina education.

ROBERT ARIAIL GOES TO FINAL REWARD

Mr. Robert L. Ariail, a widely known citizen of Franklin county, who was well and favorably known in Commerce, passed from time to eternity at his home near Bold Spring, in Franklin county Monday morning, September the 5th, 1927. Mr. Ariail had been in declining health for a year or more. Some three or more years ago he leased his farming interests in Franklin County and came with his family to Commerce to take advantage of our school. While here he endeared himself to very many of our people. It was known to his friends here that he was very ill prior to the date when he left with his family to resume their residence at his Franklin farm at the close of the school this past summer. Since that time his strength has gradually gave way and the malady refusing to respond to treatment, the result was the inevitable.

He is survived by his wife and three daughters, the eldest of the three having graduated with honors at the recent commencement here. He is also survived by six brothers: J.H., of Ashland, J.A., of Maysville, J.C. of Ashland, M.T. of Atlanta, D.W., of Ashland, O.N., of Maysville and by four sisters: Mrs. J.T. Boling, of Lula, Mrs. G.W. Fleming, of Lavonia, Mrs. N.H. Garrison, of Homer, and Mrs. Garnet Stanley, of Atlanta.

The funeral service was held at Bold Spring church Tuesday afternoon conducted by Dr. W.H. Wrighton, assisted by Rev. J.R. Jordan of this place, and interment followed at the churchyard cemetery.

In the death of Mr. Ariail, the community in which he lived has lost one of its leading and most reliable citizens. In his prime he was recognized as one of the best farmers in that section. He joined the Baptist church at Nails Creek in early life and held his membership there at the time of his death. Death is a real friend to one who has suffered so much and so long. It is a happy transition from a place of suffering to one of ease and happiness.

The members of the family are tenderly remembered by a large circle of friends.--

LITTLE CHILD DIES (related through the Duncan family)

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Ayers, of Charlotte, N.C. died early Saturday morning, July 2nd at the home of its grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ayers, of Nails Creek. It died from whooping cough and pneumonia. It was six months of age the day it died. It leaves to mourn its death a father, mother and a host of other relatives. It was sweetly laid to rest in the Nails Creek cemetery Sunday A.M. at 11:00 o'clock. Funeral services conducted by Rev. C.T. Burgess of Carnesville. We extend the deepest sympathy to the family in the death of their little son.

NOT DEAD BUT SLEEPETH

On Saturday morning, Jul 2, the death angel visited the home of J.W. Ayers near Ashland and claimed his little granddaughter, the daughter of C.T. and Mary Mayberry Ayers. Little Mabel Louise was born in Thomasville, N.C. January 1, 1927. While on a visit to her grandfather's, she was stricken with whooping cough and pneumonia which proved to be more than she could stand.

She came into the family as a little sunbeam to gladden the hearts of her parents for a little while and was then plucked as an unblown rose and carried home. After religious services conducted by her great grandfather, C.T. Burgess, her little body was laid to rest in the cemetery at Nails Creek church.

God forbids her longer stay,
God recalls the precious loan,
God hath taken her away,
From my bosom to His own;
Surely what He wills is best,
Happy in His will, I rest.
Faith cries out, it is the Lord,
Let Him do as seems Him good,
Be thy holy name adored,
Take the gift a while bestowed;
Take the child no longer mine
Thine she is, forever Thine.

A Friend.

MANNA GOODWIN ARIAIL (son of Manna Rich and Sarah Fellows)

Died--At 11 o'clock yesterday morning, Manna Goodwin, son and only child of M.R. and Sarah Ariail, aged two years, two months and twenty-nine days. (Note: It was customary back in those days for a family that had a son to die in his youth, that a subsequent male child would carry the same name. This is the case here, Manna Rich Ariail and Eliza Jones Bronaugh had a child named Manna Goodwin Ariail that had died in Stockbridge, Massachusetts. This note is to avoid confusion as to where each child died and who its parents were).

MANNA RICH ARAIL

In New Orleans on Friday, the 5th inst. after a long and painful illness, Judge M.R. Ariail, aged 44 years and 6 months.

The deceased was a resident of this town for over twenty years and was well and favorably known in the town, Parish and State as a man of untiring energy, great enterprise and indomitable perseverance. Few men, if any indeed, have in their lifetime done as much to enhance the prosperity and encourage industry of a town than the deceased performed for the town of Alexandria. The Ice House Hotel, the Gas Works, the Steam Ferry and the constant supply of ice for the use of the people, are among the most prominent and long to be remembered acts that attest to him the qualities we claim for him while living. He was often, and we may say nearly always, filling offices of trust, and we have never yet heard it whispered that he did not make a good, faithful and efficient official.

He leaves many friends to lament his loss--a wife and one child to weep tears of bitterness at their sad bereavement. Peace to his memory.

PRE-DAWN BLAZE BRINGS DEATH TO WOMAN AT UNION

A pre-dawn fire in a fashionable residence here Friday brought death to Mrs. Sallie Cecilia Ariail Taylor, 50, and seriously burned her husband.

Aaron Taylor, 51, general manager of Union - Buffalo Mills, twice attempted to reach his wife's bedroom but was driven back by the flames. He suffered burns on the head, face and arms.

The body of Mrs. Taylor was found in her bedroom by Fire Chief Jake Sullivan, who attributed her death to suffocation.

The fire was discovered by a passerby about 2 a.m. A neighbor was aroused and the alarm was given by telephone.

When firemen arrived, they found Mr. Taylor outside the house which was engulfed in flames. Although suffering from burns and shock, he directed the firemen to his wife's bedroom.

Heat and flames thwarted attempts to enter the home through the doors. Chief Sullivan used a ladder and gained entrance through a window.

Mrs. Taylor's body was found on the floor beside her bed.

Fire officials said the blaze apparently started in the den. Its cause has not been determined, according to Chief Sullivan. Firemen remained at the scene of the blaze on Cherokee Avenue for five hours.

The Taylors were alone in the house with the exception of their dog which escaped unhurt.

A son, Aaron Taylor Jr., a student at the University of South Carolina, learned the details of the tragedy when he telephoned the Fire Department. A daughter, Sallie Cecilia Taylor, lives in Augusta, Ga.

Coroner Fred Phillips said an inquest will be scheduled at a time determined by Mr. Taylor's condition.

MRS. HATTIE E. ARIAIL, Sep 2, 1886

ARIAIL--Mrs. Hattie E. Ariail, after lingering for some months in feebleness and pain, died in a great peace on Sunday evening. Aug 1, 1886. Her maiden name was Yeargin. She was born of pious parents in Greenville, Co., S.C. Oct 14, 1855, and was brought up in Laurens Co., near Dials church. Just as she stood on the threshold of young womanhood, she was led by the Spirit, under the ministry of Rev. Paul F. Kistler, into the light and liberty of the children of God. She joined the Methodist Church and to the close of life, remained a consistent member. On Dec 19, 1877, she was married to Rev. W.H. Ariail, of the South Carolina Conference and for nearly nine years was to him all that is meant by "a good wife". As the companion of an itinerant preacher I first knew her, and remember now with what cheerfulness and uniform Christian spirit she bore the privations and unsettled state of an itinerant life. She was a help and a blessing to her husband in his home and in his works. She had a wonderful facility for making friends, and the large number of sympathizing letters received by Bro. Ariail from many points, indicate how great a loss these friends think he has sustained. But, alas! no one knows so well as he and his children how desolate is their home. So the Lord takes from us our friends and loved ones and hides them in the heavens until we shall come to join that pure and happy host which no man can number. Jas. W. Wolling.

WALLACE ARIAIL

The unexpected and shocking death of Wallace Ariail brought grief to his many relatives and friends here. It seems but as yesterday when in our home Wallace as a little lad would come and sit with this writer and he was born a talented artist and from sight could sketch any scenery or profile and yet he was about 9 years old. So complete was his work we entered some of drawings (through our lamented Hon. J. K. Durst) to the Piedmont Fair and he was so delighted that Mr. Durst gave him a silver dollar. This writer has some of his drawing now. Wallace was a happy hearted boy, full of energy and made friends where he went. Then as he grew into young manhood, he left for other places of work. We are sorely grieved at his sudden passing. So strong, so kind the circle of the mother's family of children has been broken, the youngest to go first. Their hearts are bleeding for the hushed voice and the sincerest sympathy is to them as they will see the cherry face of dear Wallace no more. On his 26th birthday he passed from us all to a fairer and better home in the skies to join his father, brother and sister, the two first are sleeping in our village cemetery. The most beautiful tributes of autumn flowers cover the mound under which Wallace sleeps. These lines to the loved sad ones:

"In the clear morning of that country in Paradise

With the same face we have loved and cherished.

He shall arise;

Let us be patient, we who mourn with weeping

Some vanished face

The Lord has taken but to add more beauty

And a diviner grace.

Many friends from Greenwood and Troy attended the funeral service at the Methodist church and Messrs. Arrington, Ruff, Darby and Bannister quartette of sweet music, none any sweeter or more comforting to the sad ones than "Dreams." The Reverends Mason and Patton, of Greenwood, and the pastor here, Rev. W. S. Henry, conducted the service at the graveside. Now over the grave of our dear young friend "the leaves of autumn will flutter and fall" yet his peaceful sleep will be resting till God shall say arise and come up higher."

(Note: Jim Patterson has learned that Henry Wallace Ariail was killed in a motorcycle accident).

CAROLINE EMMA HODGES ARIAIL

News of the death of Mrs. J. W. Ariail which occurred at the home of her son, Prof. J. M. Ariail, at College Place on the 15th carried sorrow to scores of friends in all sections of the State.

Sister Ariail had been in ill health for more than a year, having spent some time in a Columbia hospital last summer and having recently been treated in Charleston, but her death at this time came as a great shock to the family and friends.

The daughter of Capt. G. W. Hodges of Marlboro and his wife, Charlottee Delorme Britton of Sumter county, she had a wide family connection in both of these counties and as the wife of a Methodist preacher for forty years her residence in different section of the State secured for her a host of friends, who were attracted by her gentle, kind, unselfish spirit.

Her children are Prof. J. M. Ariail of Columbia College, Dr. C. C. Ariail of Greenville, Rev. Warren G. Ariail of the South Carolina Conference, Robert Ariail of Mullins, Mrs. Emma A. Ellis of Charleston, Mrs. W. H. Ritter of Ehrhardt, and Misses Nell and Rowena Ariail of Bowman.

The body was taken to Sumter for burial, the funeral service being conducted by Doctors J. W. Daniel, R. S. Truesdale and D. M. McLeod. Our bereaved brother and children have the tenderest sympathy of all the brethren of the two conferences, and hosts of others.

Resolution: Whereas our heavenly Father, in his wise providence has taken from us our much beloved president of our Missionary Society, Sister Carrie Hodges Ariail:

We recognize that a sweet Christian worker is gone and regret that she labored with us such a short while. Not only our Society but the Sunday school, church and whole community will feel this loss very keenly.

Therefore, be it resolved, First, That we bow in humble submission to the Divine will.

Second, That we sincerely sympathize with her husband and children in their sore bereavement and sorrow assuring them that their sorrow is our sorrow and that our prayers ascend for our Father's blessings of comfort in this sad hour.

Third, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, one to the Southern Christian Advocate and one spread upon a page of our record.

Mrs. D. R. Whetsell, Mrs. D. B. Berry, Mrs. Olin P. Evans, Cor. Sec.
